Youth task force seeks teen input

BY ELLIS CUEVAS
The Hancock Community Task Force on Youth, an agency of the United Way of Hancock County, met with student representatives from Bay Senior High School on Tuesday.

This was a second meeting involving students with the task force, following last month's discussion with several students at St. Stanislaus.

The group's next meeting is scheduled at Hancock North Central on April 17 at noon, with students from Our Lady Academy also invited.

The task force was formed in January 1989, by community leaders concerned with the problems and issues facing the youth of the area.

Director Janet Polozola states, "The task force is in the process of compiling information from the area's youth to be used for implementation of a comprehensive youth center."

Recreation is one of the sub-committees of the task force and is headed by Don Ocho, Bay St. Louis Police Department's youth officer.

A crawfish boil will be a fundraiser scheduled for April 28, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., at the Hancock County Community Center, Longfellow Road.

New Bay police chief may be named Tuesday

BY TRACI BONNEY
Bay St. Louis soon may have a new police chief, according to Mayor Edward A. "Eddie" Favre.

Favre said Friday he hopes to be able to recommend someone at the Tuesday meeting of the city council to fill permanently the position of police chief.

The position has been filled by an interim chief, Robert Lee, since November 1989, when Ray Murphy was dismissed over a reported conflict of philosophies.

Favre said Murphy remained on the force as a special investigator on the Frank Lombardo murder case.

"His part in the case is finished as of this week," Favre said.

Turning to the possible naming of a new police chief, Favre said a national search was conducted for police chief candidates.

"We've narrowed it down to a few candidates. We still have some work to do between now and Tuesday, but I hope to make a recommendation to the city council Tuesday night.

"Hopefully, the council will ratify it, and the new chief will start effective immediately."

The council meeting begins at 7 p.m., but will be preceded by a special 6:30 p.m. at which the first Mayor's Community Achievement Awards will be presented.

Exchange Club slates 'Fun-Raisin' Auction

The Exchange Club of Hancock County has announced plans for its first annual Fun-Raisin' Absolute Auction to be held Friday, May 18 in Bay St. Louis, according to club president Billy Stechmann of Coast Electric Power Association.

The auction will be conducted to raise funds to help support the Exchange Club's Family-Child Center on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, in addition to supporting the Hancock County Exchange Club's other ongoing child-abuse prevention programs.

The auction will be at the Wheel Inn Restaurant, US-90, Bay St. Louis beginning at 7:30 p.m. Items to be auctioned may be viewed prior to the auction from 6:30-7:30 p.m.

Hot dogs, popcorn and beverage items will be available for purchase beginning at 6:30. Col. Bob Glover of Waveland has volunteered his services as auctioneer.

Auction chairman Jeannie Deen of The Peoples Bank is urging all businesses in Hancock County and the surrounding area to donate products and services to be auctioned. The products and services may be of any type and value, and the donor will receive recognition of his participation during the auction.

Area businesses will be contacted within the next few weeks by Exchange Club members to ask for their participation. Interested parties also may contact either Jeannie Deen at 467-9296 or Jim Henrie at 467-9045 for additional information.

The Exchange Club, founded in 1911, is a national organization of men and women from all walks of life who have joined together to voluntarily serve their communities in a wide range of humanitarian and patriotic activities.

The principal areas of involvement are Americanism, youth and community service programs.

Ammo plant task force meets with army reps

BY DENA BISNETTE
A task force appointed by Congressman Gene Taylor met Saturday with representatives of the U.S. Army to discuss privatization of the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant at John C. Stennis Space Center.

The content of the discussion involved efforts to put a private industry in the plant, where 400 lay-offs will occur next month and the contractor, Mason-Chamberlain, Inc., is trying to complete remaining contract obligations before starting a moth-balling process.

Details of the discussion, however, are not available because the press was excluded from the meeting. Reporters from two newspapers including The Sea Coast Echo, a radio station and a television station showed up at Scaife's Wheel Inn for the meeting, but were turned away at the door of the conference room.

Taylor, who formed the task force about six weeks ago in response to the news that the plant would be closed and that $90 million appropriated by Congress would not be available to the facility, stated that the army representatives had been the ones requesting the closed meeting.

"We don't want to do anything to antagonize the army right now," he said.

He stated before the meeting that the army had done "a 180-degree turn" in negotiations regarding possible privatization of the plant.

The first person to leave the meeting was Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr., who said he had to attend another event. He said the army sounded cooperative, the meeting sounded like preliminary negotiations regarding privatization and that at this point, the task force does not have a specific tenant in mind for the plant.

Taylor also left early in order to keep another appointment and sounded optimistic when he came out of the meeting.

"We're pretty well covered on the Washington end," he stated, explaining that Secretary of Defense Stone is also cooperative about privatization possibilities.

He stated that the army wants the final say regarding who the tenant in the plant would be if privatization were approved. In addition, a number of environmental and economic studies would be required.

Negotiations with the army would set up a baseline of availability regarding what can be done at the plant, but the task force would have some control over the marketing of the facility.

Taylor is also trying to pursue other options, such as freeing a $90 million appropriation held up by President George Bush. That move, he said, would keep the facility open another year and make a smoother transition for any private firm taking over the complex.

Another possibility would be trying to get the state to keep it open for another year.

The congressman also said the army appears to have given up the idea of mothballing the facility and that he understands Stone is now in the process of changing those orders.

More lay-offs announced as workers' programs begin

BY DENA BISNETTE
The day before the first orientation sessions for the 1,600 workers at the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant began, the number of anticipated lay-offs for next month jumped from 294 to 400.

Robert Burns, communications director for the plant operation contractor, Mason-Chamberlain, Inc., announced the additional lay-offs Thursday.

The first 294 are scheduled for an April 23 termination. Most of the rest who have been notified will work until April 27, with about 10 remaining until April 30.

The orientation sessions, designed by a committee including members of the Governor's Office of Economic and Community Development Rapid Response Team, Mississippi Employment Service and other service organizations, began Friday and are designed to familiarize employees with assistance available to them once they are laid off.

The sessions were held on company time and covered topics ranging from financial assistance to retraining and educational programs.

Four more sessions are scheduled for next week.

The out-placement center at the plant is another effort to help workers find assistance and new jobs, and will be open from 7:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. weekdays.

Its staff includes representatives from MCI, the employment service, Pearl River Community College, Gulf Coast Community College and the rapid response team.

could not be counted.

Wilcox will be sworn in April 9 before the board's next regular meeting unless a special meeting is called before that date.

The new trustee will replace Danny Carter, who was defeated in the primary election two weeks ago.

An election for the board seat currently held by Linda Penrose will be held March 1991.

Wilcox wins election for school board seat

BY DENA BISNETTE
The New Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board trustee, based on unofficial totals, is James D. Wilcox.

Wilcox defeated Ruth Thompson in Saturday's run-off election with 400 votes, including two affidavit ballots yet to be verified.

Thompson received 235 votes, including one affidavit.

Pollworkers stated that there was one spoiled ballot which

Welfare Department to distribute commodities at county fairgrounds

The Hancock County Department of Human Services will distribute USDA commodities—flour, butter, canned pork, honey, beans and peanut butter—Wednesday, March 21, at the Hancock County Fairgrounds Civic Center on Longfellow Road.

Distribution will begin at 9:30 a.m. and will end when commodities are gone, but no later than 2 p.m. Eligible recipients are those who receive food stamps or members of low-income households who have applied for commodities at the Welfare Department and have been determined eligible.

Participants must take a signed voucher with them to receive commodities. If a participant wants to have someone else pick up his or her commodities, he must sign the voucher on the front and back. The person picking up the commodities must sign it on the back and take it to the distribution site.

Participants may receive commodities for only two households at a time, and they must carry the commodities they receive.

Those who do not receive food stamps may apply for commodities at the Department of Human Services through Wednesday, March 21. Applications will not be taken at the distribution site.

The Food Distribution Program is available to all eligible recipients regardless of race, color, national origin, religion, age, sex or handicap.

Welty honored for contribution to arts

Eudora Welty topped the list when Governor Ray Mabus recently announced the winners of the 1990 Governor's Awards for Excellence in the Arts.

During a ceremony at the Capitol, Welty received the Lifetime Achievement Award, saluting her body of work and the positive attention it has brought to Mississippi.

Other award winners include Thalia Mara, the Mississippi Artist's Achievement Award; the Mississippi Mass Choir, the Heritage Award; Stuart C. Irby Jr., the Arts Patron Award; Starkville High School, the Arts Education Award; Mississippi Cultural Crossroads and the Claiborne County Board of Supervisors, the Arts Partnership Award; and the Noxubee County Library, the Design of Public Space Award.

"This is our opportunity to pay homage to artists in our state, to recognize the important contributions they have made to Mississippi's cultural life," said Jane Crater Hiatt, executive director of the Mississippi Arts Commission.

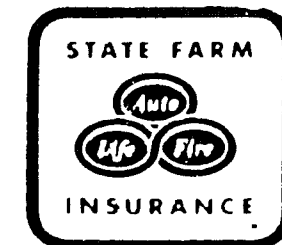

As head of the agency charged with stimulating interest in and support of the arts in Mississippi, Hiatt has two hopes for this awards competition: one, that it will inspire others to strive for artistic excellence; and two, that more will become aware of the significant role the arts play in the continued economic and cultural growth of our state.

The award winners were selected from nominations submitted by the general public.

Try my favorite question: Why?

Someone who wasn't in the news business once asked me if I, as a reporter, had a favorite all-purpose question.

As a matter of fact, I do have a favorite. It's one I share with little kids all over the world.

My favorite question is, "Why?" I don't use it all the time, but I love it when I get the chance to use it. I may be too easy on people; they can usually answer all my questions.

"Why?" is the one they usually have trouble answering, but when my sources can answer it, I get more information than I would with any other five questions combined.

"Why?" sometimes causes people to hem and haw and cough—often they'd rather not tell me, or they simply don't know.

To me, the most honest answer I have ever heard is, "I don't know." One of the most interesting, and sometimes fun, answers to "Why?" is "I don't know, but let's go find out." That gets me into the most interesting places.

There are many times when "Why?" simply can not be answered. Nobody knows why.

I like the way little kids use

"Why?"

They ask questions which are terribly obvious but which perplex adults better than anything written on those little cards in the Trivia Pursuit game.

They ask things like:
— "Why is the sky blue?"
— "Why does the Easter Bunny only come after I'm asleep?"
— "Why is there nothing in holes?"

— And such gems as "Why do bumblebees fly?"
Of course, one of the best ones I've heard that should stump an adult was asked of my publisher, Ellis Cuevas, when some little ones took a field trip through The Sea Coast Echo office.

One little kid wanted to know, "Why does the ink come off the newspaper and get all over your hands?"

That one would have fazed anybody else, but not Ellis. We had just ordered a new brand of ink designed not to rub off as much, and Ellis was tickled pink to tell this little guy all about our new kind of ink.

The biggest problem with "Why?" is that it breeds more questions. One of my favorite short stories is O'Henry's Ransom of the Red Chief, in which two down-and-out outlaws attempt to make some money by kidnapping a rich man's son.

There is a wonderful passage in that tale which occurs after the two outlaws have decided they have stolen the world's most awful brat. In it, the kid completely deranges one of the kidnappers by asking him a whole series of questions beginning with "Why?"

"Why?" is kind of like that. For every "Why?" you can answer, a couple of more questions spring up. That's one of the reasons it's such a fun question.

Watch the look on the face of the next person you ask "Why?" Such a variety of expressions can not be caused by any other word, which is another reason it's fun.

Ask "Why?" about something which has been that way forever, like the direction of a one-way street, and you may get a whole basket full of historical anecdotes if you pursue the matter.

Mostly, it's fun to ask "Why?" sometimes just to forget for a little while that you're an adult. That's one of my favorite uses for it.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It is Spring Pilgrimage time along the Mississippi Gulf Coast sponsored by the Council of Garden Clubs. Over the next two weeks pilgrimages will take place in all of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Communities.

The 43rd annual event gets underway in Hancock County on Monday at the John C. Stennis Space Center and the Welcome Center on I-10, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Space Center gives visitors an opportunity of viewing exhibits representing work at the Hancock County facility.

There will be live demonstrations, movies, guided tours of the test stands and visions of science and technology into the future.

Our Welcome Center on I-10 in Hancock County is one of the most beautiful in the country.

The staff gives visitors to our county and state a very good impression and do everything they can to possibly promote the many asset of the area.

I realize there are many folks who reside in the county and have never taken the time to visit the beautiful center and Monday would be a good time to do so.

The building itself is worth a visit, as its interior appointments and paintings, as well as staircase, carry the antebellum theme.

Members of the Bay-Waveland and Diamondhead Garden Clubs will be hostesses in helping greet the visitors at the Space Center's Visitors Center and the Welcome Center along with the regular greeters.

Pilgrimage activities will then pick up on Wednesday with Diamondhead's annual tour.

Points of interest on the Diamondhead tour include:

- The Diamondhead Community Center and Atrium.
- The residence of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Wall III, 792 Ewa Street.
- The Diamondhead Country Club, Diamondhead Drive.
- The residence of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Ludwig, 646 Huko Court.
- The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robertson, 1337 Kauakapili.
- The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jon Ritten, 8234 Maunalani Place.
- The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Doherty, 1318 Kalo Court.
- And the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Godard, 6650 Ahakolo Circle.

The Diamondhead activities run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Thursday is the big day for the Bay-Waveland Garden Club's annual pilgrimage tours.

The Bay-Waveland Garden Center, 114 Leonhard Ave., Bay St. Louis, which is on the National Historic Register will offer coffee pilgrimage brochures and maps beginning at 10 a.m.

The Bay-Waveland area residences in Bay St. Louis open to the public includes:

- The residence of Carter Church and Yancy Pogue, 1532 North Beach Blvd.
- The residence of Philip J. LaGrange, 1360 North Beach Blvd.
- St. Augustine's Divine Word Seminary Chapel and Grotto, Ulman Avenue, Wayside Shrine, U.S. 90.
- The Kate Lobrano House, 108 Court St.
- The grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Breeden, 978 South Beach Blvd.
- The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Cucullu, 121 Citizen St.
- And the Fitness Trail located in front of the Hancock Medical Center on Highway 90.

I am hoping many folks will take advantage of the Pilgrimage and visit the many points of interest open to the public.

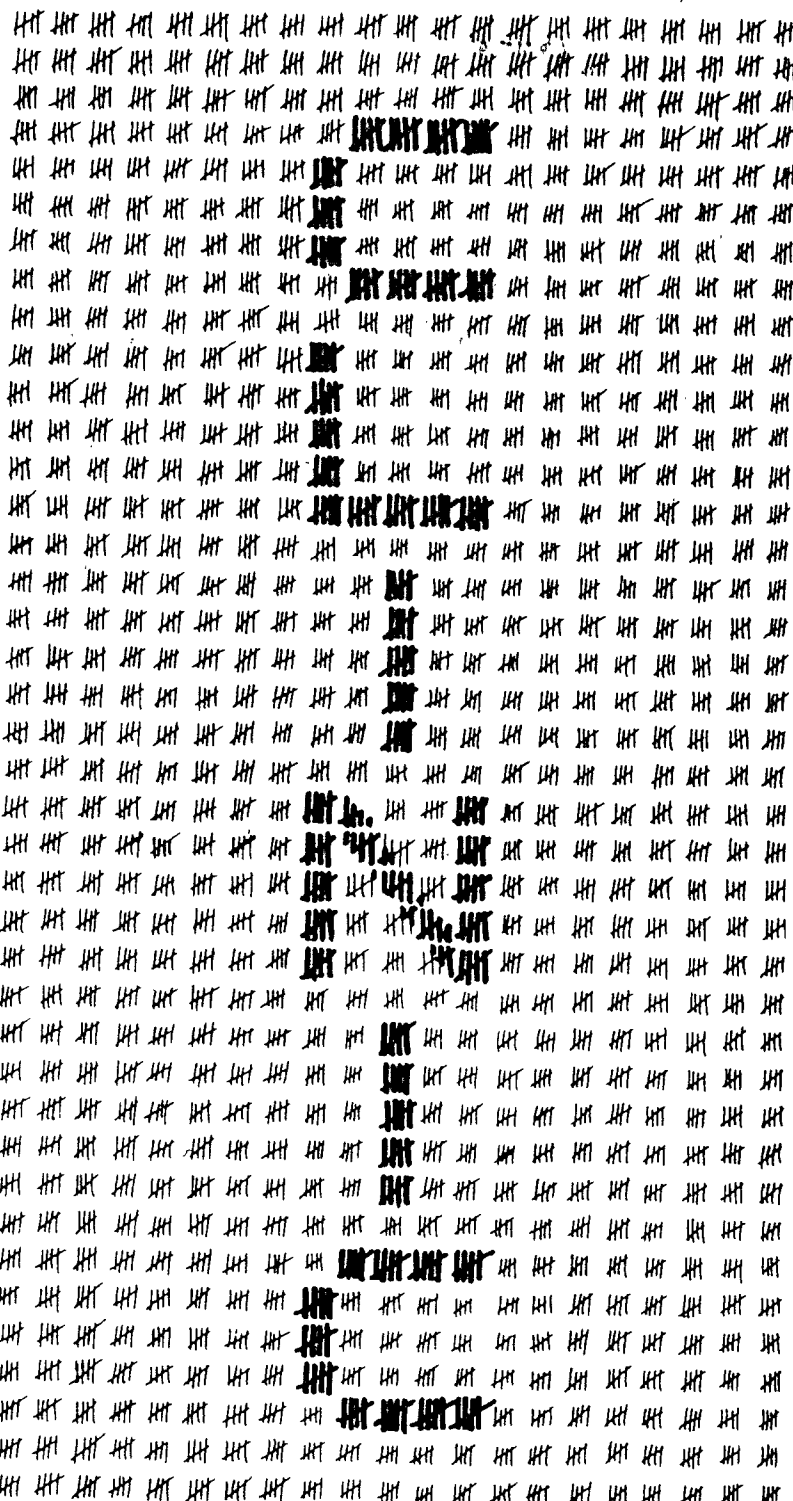

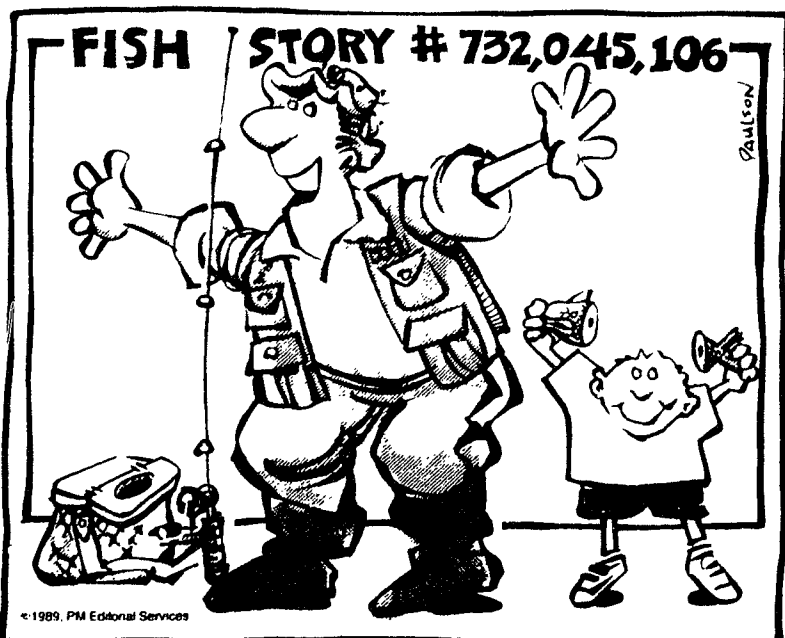

I hope to see you at the Pilgrimage.

It appears someone from the Waveland Civic Association kissed the Blarney Stone, as weather conditions sure changed to the good from Friday to Saturday for the St. Patrick's Day parade.

I was sure glad to see sunshine on Saturday morning after the previous gloomy wet days we had.

Good weather always brings out a good crowd for a parade.

I hope everyone enjoyed the parade.

Counting the population isn't the only thing the Census is good for.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator Thad Cochran

Senate confirms Rhesa Barksdale to federal bench

The U.S. Senate has confirmed the nomination of Jackson lawyer Rhesa Barksdale to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Barksdale will serve on the New Orleans-based court that has jurisdiction over federal cases in Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas.

U.S. Senators Thad Cochran and Trent Lott both praised the Senate action Friday, March 9.

"I think it is really exciting that Mississippi has another member of the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals," Cochran said following the confirmation. "By confirming him, the Senate has given us generous representation on that court."

"Rees is an outstanding lawyer and he is exceptionally well qualified. He is one of our state's finest lawyers," Cochran said.

Senator Lott said, "Mississippi is fortunate to have a man of Rees' qualifications and skills on the federal bench. I know he will make us very proud."

Other Mississippians on the court are Charles Clark and E. Grady Jolly. Nine judges are from Texas and three from Louisiana. President Bush must now sign the commission, followed by Barksdale taking the oath of office.

Barksdale graduated from the University of Mississippi School of Law in 1972. Following graduation, he served as law clerk of Justice Byron R. White of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Barksdale was graduated from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, and served in combat in Vietnam as an officer in the United States Army.

Both Cochran and Lott nominated Barksdale to the President for appointment to the bench. The senators testified before the Senate Judiciary Committee on Feb. 27 in support of Barksdale.

Barksdale, 45, is a partner in the law firm of Butler, Snow, O'Mara, Stevens & Cannada.

"I am extremely pleased and I believe even more appreciative," Barksdale said from his law office Friday afternoon. "So many people have been so helpful in this process, especially Senators Thad Cochran and Trent Lott," he said.

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator Trent Lott

A national transportation policy for Mississippi

The administration of Transportation Secretary Samuel Skinner has been a very active one.

Last year I was delighted when he accepted my invitation to come to Mississippi and see firsthand our highway and bridge needs. For several hours on that warm summer day, he saw our highways and rural roads from the same vantage point we do—from behind the wheel. And I can report that tour helped prompt release of funds in January for two North Mississippi highway improvement projects.

The Secretary also has been responsive to the needs of Mississippi's airports, and already this year has released money to improve the runways and taxiways at five of our airports.

Sam Skinner is doing a good job, and I appreciate his efforts finally to put a cohesive, national transportation policy into place. He has the confidence and backing of President Bush who has given transportation needs a high profile in his agenda, and that's important.

The call to implement a national transportation policy is timely. The Senate will enact a multi-year general transportation authorization program this year and put into place a highway authorization plan next year which will be critical to our progress in improving Mississippi's highway infrastructure.

With that backdrop, the Secretary and the President on March 8 unveiled a 129-page blueprint as the starting point for a national transportation strategy.

The plan proposes to preserve and maintain existing roads, highways, airports, railroad lines, waterways, and other transportation facilities and to focus on moving people and goods, not simply vehicles, in planning new systems.

The plan is good for general aviation and for railroads, but it is totally inadequate for highways.

Unfortunately, the Office of Management and Budget got its paw into the process and diluted the policy in too many areas—highways in particular.

OMB wants the federal government to rely more heavily on user fees to finance national projects and give state and local governments more authority to raise revenue through toll roads, local gasoline taxes, airport passenger taxes, and other fees to shoulder the cost of more of their own projects.

Local and state governments may need to make a larger investment in our highway infrastructure, but increasing their share is totally unacceptable without a major increase in federal funding. I know of no locality in Mississippi that can afford the increases this national transportation policy calls for to meet their transportation needs.

I want the federal government to spend the Highway Trust Fund, money we already have which is earmarked for the repair of highways nationwide. I also want the Highway Trust Fund taken off budget to prevent its being emptied into the Treasury or used to mask the budget deficit.

Mississippi is the poorest state in the union, and our roads and highways have been neglected for years. We're going to need more federal funds to repair and expand them.

The Secretary's goals in his national transportation policy are laudable, but I view his plan for highways as one small step for "Mississippi-kind." As a member of the Senate Subcommittee on Surface Transportation, I'll be working with him but supporting an increased share of federal funding, proportionate to Mississippi's long overdue needs.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

North Bay rates 'A+' for drug education

Dear Editor,

In case you don't know, the Bay St. Louis Public School System is really doing a job with the kids! They are teaching them to "just say no."

Yesterday I was discussing buying a license plate for a car with something written on it to make it personal.

I asked, "How about AAA for Arlene, Amy and Andrew?"

My six-year-old Andrew said, "No, Mama, make it say 'Just say no to drugs.'"

Boy, was I proud of him and our North Bay school!

Yours Truly,
Arlene Johnson

Hwy. 603: Blame the drivers not the road

To the Editor,

In reply to a letter in a recent edition of the Sea Coast Echo:

I don't drive on the Kiln-Delisle or Rocky Hill-Dedaux roads often enough to comment on their conditions, so I will confine my remarks to Hwy. 603, which I do drive on.

Hwy. 603 has been sufficiently widened, it is clearly marked, has necessary yellow lines, has few if any potholes, and the shoulders do not drop off abruptly.

So I wonder, why all the complaints about the road?

My complaints are about the drivers who are drunk, on drugs or are in such a hurry that they pass around curves, over hills, on double yellow lines and meeting oncoming vehicles, all the while doing at least 20 miles an hour over the speed limit.

My question is, "Why don't we enforce the driving laws we have?" This will take care of the "dangerous road."

The road is not speeding, drunk or violating traffic laws. Let's put the blame where it belongs—on the drivers!

Flash floods possible in some county areas

BY TRACI BONNEY
Heavy rains in the area Thursday and Friday may contribute to flash flooding in low-lying areas this weekend, according to Hancock County Maintenance Superintendent Sam Cuevas.

Cuevas said early Friday that the rain, along with rising tides, could cause problems in some parts of Hancock County. He added that flash flood watches were in effect in the county.

A spokesperson for Waveland City Hall said no street flooding had been reported.

Buddy Zimmerman, field supervisor for the Bay St. Louis office of the Public Works Department, said Friday all streets were passable, but he cautioned motorists to drive with care.

"People should be aware that some areas have potholes that we have not been able to patch with the rain."

"Be advised that if you see water on the street you should drive carefully in the event a pothole has developed."

Coast Electric Company reported a few minor outages Thursday and Friday, while Mississippi Power Company reported a major outage Thursday when lightning struck the feeder line that supplies North Beach Street and other nearby streets.

A spokesperson for Mississippi Power said electricity in the affected area was out for about an hour and a half. Another Mississippi Power outage occurred Friday when lightning hit a power line. This outage, however, was a short one, the spokesperson said.

Plant

"We don't want to waste a day, but at the same time we don't want to rush in because we want to see that we have a long-term solution," Taylor stated.

Dan Mortimer of Gulf Coast Fabrication, a marine construction firm, was selected to the task force partially due to his involvement with the privatization of the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

Mortimer called the meeting productive and said he sees a clear commitment toward privatization from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the U.S. Army Material Branch and other divisions involved.

The next step is a task force meeting with the army regarding the plans for a quasi-corporation of federal, state and local entities and private industry regarding control of the plant and advertising for private firms interested in using the facility.

He added that the army's communications are likely to refer to privatization as reutilization because during the meeting, army representatives seemed to prefer that term.

"This is not what we set out to accomplish, which was to preserve the jobs out there—that became impossible," Mortimer added, explaining that even if Taylor is successful in freeing the $90 million for the plant, the lay-offs cannot be stopped. However, Mortimer said he felt the trend could be reversed within a year.

Harold Olsen, Hancock County Port and Harbor Director, said he was also encouraged by the meeting. He expects to be able to begin advertising soon in the Commercial Business Daily, a publication in which the federal government requests proposals from private industry for various projects.

He said he understands that Stone sees the move regarding the plant as "an innovative effort by local officials."

"It's just timing now. It's a matter of how quickly we can get it to work," Olsen stated.

A photographic exhibit of Natchez children during the Victorian era will officially open at Bay St. Louis City Hall March 19.

The exhibit is located in the first floor lobby.

The photographs, now owned by Thomas and Joan Gandy of Natchez, are the work of Henry Norman, a professional photographer in Natchez from 1870 until his death in 1913.

The portraits on exhibit are a sampling of late 19th and early 20th century children with their favorite toys or animals and dressed in their finest garb.

The exhibit is part of the traveling exhibits program, which is sponsored by the State Historical Museum, a division of the Department of Archives and History.

"We are very happy to have secured the exhibit for viewing by the residents and visitors of the city. It is the perfect complement to the restored lobby of our 1905 City Hall. We expect to have many hundreds of visitors, especially with the March 22 Pilgrimage tour," said Mayor Edward Favre.

Large groups who would like to view the exhibit are asked to call Michael Cuevas at 467-9092 to make arrangements.

Story hour titles told

Pre-school story times are conducted Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. at the City-County Public Library and on Friday at 10:30 a.m. at the Waveland Library.

The City-County Public Library will feature the stories "Henny Penny," "Quick Quackers," and "The Number 10 Duckling." Children will play the game "Duck, Duck, Goose" and will work a craft sheet, "The Walking Duck Puppet."

The Waveland Library will have "Spring Has Sprung" as theme and will feature the stories "Spring is a New Beginning" and "Seasons."

The children will also participate in a craft in which they will make vegetable prints. Children are asked to wear old clothes to this story hour and bring a cut-up vegetable such as a potato, radish, bell pepper, or a non-juicy fruit such as an apple. Fruits and vegetables should be cut up into about 11 pieces.

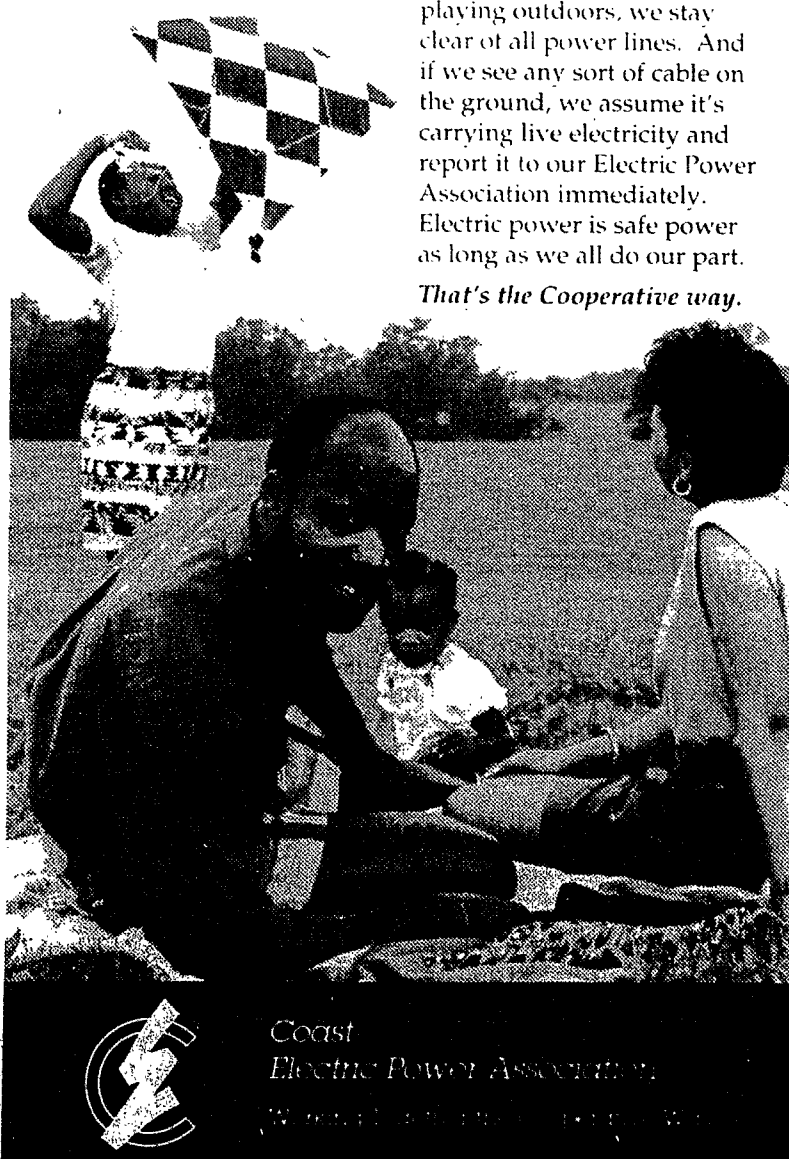

Story hour activities are designed to be accomplished by pre-school-age children. For more information, call the City-County Public Library at 467-5282 or the Waveland Library at 467-9240.

With sweet fresh strawberries coming in profusion into our area supermarkets, up in taste and coming down in price, let's feast on strawberries, sugar and cream in whatever use we prefer.

National East Louisiana strawberries on special, and Delchamps offers Florida berries on sale. Counties at bar, and Winn-Dixie and Jitney Jungle also offer strawberries.

Strawberries are so delicious just as they are that it almost seems "gilding the lily," or in this case the berry, to add them to anything. But strawberries lend themselves well to other foods. For example, try using strawberries to a fresh spinach salad as in this recipe, or in the Berry Off contest at the California Strawberry Festival in Oxnard, Calif.

BERRY SPECIAL SPINACH SALAD

1 1/2 oz. fresh spinach, washed and dried
1/2 cup fresh spinach, sliced
1 pt. strawberries, washed, hulled and sliced
1/2 cup oil
3 Tbsp. strawberry or other vinegar
1 tsp. salt
1 very small clove garlic, mashed
1/2 tsp. fresh ground pepper
1 Tbsp. sugar
1 tsp. onion
1 tsp. dry mustard
1/2 tsp. dry mustard
1/2 tsp. dry mustard
Toss the spinach in a large size 1 piece, and mix with berries and dressing.
For the dressing, mix the remaining ingredients in a glass bowl and shake well. Pour over berries.

And if you're tired of grapes, try this at the end of you of that taste, with strawberries, just wash the berries, leaving the stems on, and serve along with a bowl of sour cream and one of brown sugar for dipping, first in the cream and then in the sugar, and think of the time you've saved by not having to hull the berries.

If your "market basket" includes a quarter pork chop (sliced) from Winn-Dixie you might cook up this easy:

SKILLET PORK CHOPS

6 pork chops
3 Tbsp. oil or melted shortening
1 cup uncooked long grain rice
3/4 tsp. chili powder
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup tomatoes, canned
6 bell-green pepper rings
3/4 cup shredded process American cheese

Brown the pork chops in the oil or shortening, in a large skillet, for 15 or 20 minutes, and drain off the excess fat. Add the chili powder and pepper together and sprinkle the mixture over the chops. Add the rice and chopped green pepper and spoon the tomatoes over the chops and rice.

Cover the skillet, and cook over low heat for a half hour to 35 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add pepper rings, cover and cook for five minutes longer. Sprinkle with the cheese and cover the skillet again until the cheese melts. Six servings.

With fresh tomatoes down in price at Winn-Dixie and National, and onions at a good price at Delchamps, make a sliced tomato and onion salad with a good oil and vinegar dressing.

Or, mix up a fruit salad with some strawberries and blue grapes from Jitney Jungle and green grapes from Winn-Dixie, adding some of the milder than juicy oranges featured at all our stores. And, don't forget to add in some apples as well.

Seafood is special these Lenten days, and there are specials at the markets, ranging from shrimp and oysters to canned tuna, and here's an easy tuna casserole recipe from the "Lemon Twist" cookbook. Here's:

TUNA CASSEROLE

1 can tuna (7 oz.)
2 eggs
2 cups cottage cheese
1 tsp. lemon juice
1/4 cup soft bread crumbs
1 cup frozen peas
1/2 cup buttered bread crumbs or crumbled potato chips
In a quart casserole, mix all ingredients except for the buttered crumbs or chips. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until just set. (Four servings).

If you buy some of the green beans at Jitney Jungle, try them in this recipe. This variation is from the theme.

STEAMED GREEN BEANS

1 lb. fresh green beans, trimmed
1/2 cup dried sweet red pepper
2 Tbsp. water
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. oil
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 Tbsp. lemon juice
1 Tbsp. oil

In heavy skillet with tight fitting lid place all ingredients except lemon juice. Cover and cook over medium heat, shaking pan occasionally to prevent sticking for 15 to 20 minutes, or until tender-crisp. Toss with

Bay Business Association seeks poster contest entries

The Bay St. Louis Business Association is seeking entries for the 11th annual Beachfront Festival poster. Deadline for entry in the competition is April 21.

A cash award of $100 will be presented to the artist of the winning design.

The entry must have been executed in the past two years and never previously entered in the competition. The maximum framed size is 40 inches in either direction, with the mat color white, off-white, beige or gray. There is an entry fee of $8, with no limit to the number of entries by an artist.

Entries are to be delivered April 21 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. to the Bay St. Louis City Hall, 300 South Second Street.

All works to be securely framed under glass or acrylic and securely wired for hanging. Name and address of the artist, title and price should be firmly affixed to back.

For a prospectus, contact the Bay St. Louis Business Association, 467-8201 or Mike Cuevas, Bay St. Louis City Hall, 467-9092.

How most people deal with the symptoms of a heart attack.

Hiding from a problem doesn't make it go away. In fact, hiding from the symptoms of a heart attack can make the problem worse. Much worse.

Be alert to heart attack symptoms. Chest pain and pressure are the most common. Pain may radiate down your arm, neck or shoulder. There's also shortness of breath. Cold sweat. Dizziness. Faintness and nausea.

Sometimes only a few symptoms occur. Sometimes more. Sometimes the symptoms can even be due to another problem.

Only one thing is certain. The sooner heart problems are treated, the better your chance of recovery.

That's why we're here. The Heart Emergency Service at NorthShore Regional Medical Center is the first of its kind in this area. Located in our Emergency Department, we save lives by detecting heart problems rapidly and providing necessary treatment.

If you experience any symptoms of a heart attack, get immediate medical attention. Anytime, day or night, you can call our emergency 24-Hour Heartline™ at 1-800-HEART-13. An emergency care professional is available around the clock to answer questions, give advice or even dispatch an ambulance if necessary.

24-Hr. Heartline
1-800-HEART-13

The Heart Center at NorthShore Regional Medical Center offers a complete range of cardiac care services. That's important to you during those first critical hours following a heart attack. And although you'll probably never need them, it's good to know our heart team is available 24 hours a day.

We employ powerful clot-dissolving drugs that can save lives by stopping and, in some instances, actually reversing the effects of heart attacks. The sooner these drugs are administered the better the chance of a complete recovery.

And advanced diagnostic capabilities, including our state-of-the-art cardiac catheterization laboratory, help us assess and treat heart problems more accurately and effectively than ever.

We also offer educational programs that help people prevent heart attacks, and rehabilitation services that help heart patients recover faster and more fully.

Learn more about The Heart Center at NorthShore Regional Medical Center by calling (504) 641-MDMD and we'll send you a free brochure that describes our cardiac services in greater detail.

Remember, don't hide from any symptoms of a heart attack. Go to the nearest hospital emergency department. If you're close to NorthShore Regional Medical Center, use the Heart Emergency Service in our Emergency Department located just east of Interstate 10 on 190—Exit 266—Gause Boulevard. Or call 1-800-HEART-13. Don't hide. Seek help.

Bay-Waveland Garden Club to greet Spring Pilgrimage visitors on Thursday

BY JANET MCQUEEN

The Bay-Waveland Garden Club's 43rd annual Spring Pilgrimage tour offers a glimpse of Bay St. Louis' past and present. In addition to the eight designated Pilgrimage stops, five points of interest are suggested by the Hancock County Historical Society.

The St. Joseph Chapel (A), located on Dunbar Avenue, is a quaint Catholic Church attended by parishioners who are 'early risers'.

The corner of Julia Street and Beach Boulevard in Cedar Point (B) features a windmill from the ranch of Phil Harris. Its base is the weather station once located at the end of the St. Stanislaus pier.

A gourmet luncheon will be prepared and served by members of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club's Ladies Auxiliary in the club's main dining room from 11:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. (C) The cost is $6. Ample parking is available on the club grounds.

The intersection of Ulman Avenue and Beach Boulevard (D) is the sight of the Battle of the Bay. On Main Street, several artists' and antique shops are featured (F).

Bay St. Louis City Hall on South Second Street is host to an exhibit of vintage photographs of Natchez children during the Victorian era. The collection is the work of Henry Norman. City Hall will be open for visitors from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Mrs. E. Burton Kemp III is Pilgrimage chairman. The following stops appear in the Pilgrimage brochure: (Map Page 2C)

Bay-Waveland Garden Center—114 Leonhard Avenue, Bay St. Louis, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The much-loved home of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club is on the National Historic Register.

The Bay-Waveland Garden Club was founded in 1938. A warm welcome is extended with coffee at the Garden Center. Pilgrimage brochure and maps are available.

Carter Church and Yancy Pogue—1532 North Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis.

Gutted by fire, the house was restored by the present owners to utilize the view of the Bay and the marshes. Decking was added, making this an ideal second home.

Philip J. LaGrange—1360 North Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis.
This stately home was constructed in 1922 over the site of one of Bay St. Louis' oldest swimming pools.

Once part of the old Cowand Plantation, it is said to have been used as the training grounds for the Atlanta Crackers (Atlanta Braves).

Devastated by Hurricane Camille, this property remained abandoned until 1982 when the present owner renovated the estate to its present condition. Of particular note is the original tongue-and-groove cypress paneling and Strauss crystal chandeliers.

St. Augustine's Divine Word Seminary Chapel and Grotto—Ulman Avenue, Wayside Shrine on Hwy. 90. 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Wayside shrine is one of four in the United States. The chapel, completed in 1936, has served as the center of religious activity for the seminary and has been the site of more ordinations of black Catholic priests than any other church in the U.S.

If the walls of the chapel could talk, they might recall the visits of cardinals and the Apostolic Delegates; the preaching of Archbishop Fulton Sheen, and the first Episcopal Mass of Bishop Bowers in 1953 and the first U.S. black Bishop.

The Grotto was constructed of stones from the old seawall of Bay St. Louis; the front part honors Our Lady of Lourdes, the other section depicts the Agony in the Garden.

Kate Lobrano House—108 Cue Street, Bay St. Louis. 11 a.m.-4 p.m.

Now the home of the Hancock County Historical Society, this charming turn-of-the-century cottage faces Hancock County Courthouse.

The home of Katherine Maynard Lobrano, given by her heirs in 1988 to be the permanent home of the Historical Society, is a two-bay cottage with an undercut front and side gallery of vertical barge board construction with lap siding.

It features French doors at the entrance and along the side gallery. The interior 12" rough-hewn wall boards have been exposed and returned to their original stage. Still undergoing restoration, the house also serves as a small museum.

The grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Breeden—978 South Beach Boulevard.

Originally owned by Mayor E. E. O'Brien, in 1919, it was purchased by the Daughters of St. Margaret's as a recreation resort. After Camille only the large oaks were left standing.

All 14 acres had been reclaimed by nature. Except for a few Crinum bulbs, everything today on the 1½ acres, even the soil, has been laid in since 1981. Location of the house and surrounding buildings was dictated by the stately old oaks.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Cucullu—121 Citizen Street, Bay St. Louis.

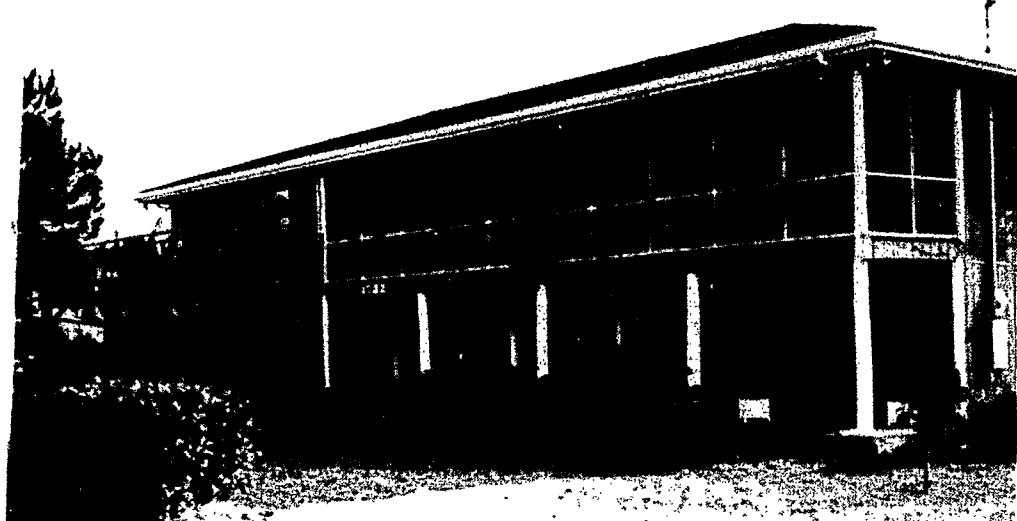

Build in 1868 as a single family home, this house was cut in half in 1908. Number 119 was moved south 35 feet. It is not open for the pilgrimage. Number 121 has been extended to the rear and the kitchen relocated when the bathroom was added.

The ceilings are 13' high, and the testor bed in the front room is a Mallard from New Orleans—the wedding bed of the owner's great-grandmother. She was the sister of Louisiana Governor Louis Alfred Wiltz.

The oaks are approximately 400 years old and at one time sheltered the village blacksmith shop run by Mr. Claude Monti, later sheriff of Hancock County.

Fitness Trail on Highway 90—Located in front of Hancock Medical Center, it is open 24 hours a day. Created under the direction of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, Park Commission and Recreation Director Hilda Bourg. Bay-Waveland Garden Club and the Chamber of Commerce are landscaping the track.

Church move from Pass Christian seen by pastor as "miraculous"

BY TRACI BONNEY
Harvest Time Church in Pass Christian is about to "cross the street" when it moves into a new building on the Kilm area. Pastor Bob Guidry Jr. of Bay County is excited about the move, which is scheduled to take place on the fourth of April at the church's new location, which Guidry said is prophesied almost 20 years ago.

Harvest Time Church, a non-denominational church whose members consist mostly of people from the Waveland area, was founded as a Bible church in the home of Edmond Guidry in 1970. It became the first service location on the Kilm area in Pass Christian in April 1986.

Guidry said he was in Natchitoches, La., when he was told by a man in a white robe that he should move the church to Pass Christian and build a new pastorage and moved here. His vision was not only of a church, but a ministry training center.

True to that vision, Guidry said, Harvest Time has drawn ministry people, "people with calls on their lives," into its congregation. As a result, membership in the church tends to fluctuate.

"Ministry people tend to get fidgety if things aren't moving as fast as they'd like, so they go somewhere else and start something of their own."

"God's always had a plan for this church here," he said. "There's always been a strong core of members."

Guidry said the upcoming move, planned for April 1, was prophesied in late summer of 1986.

"When I gave the prophesy, it said the church would move north, west, then north again and there the place would be. Another prophesy said the place would be ready to be prepared for us."

"The odd thing is that we made a move between Davis Street and the one we're about to make, but it wasn't prophesied."

"The prophesy for this move, though, took into account our present location, not the Davis Street one."

The church currently rents property on Scenic and Second Streets in Pass Christian.

Guidry said, "The closest northerly artery to us is Menge Avenue. So, if you go north on Menge, you come to I-10. If you go west on I-10, the first exit to the north is Kilm-DeLisle Road. Take Kilm-DeLisle north 1.9 miles and there it is, in plain sight."

The building in question is the former site of Kilm Auto Parts. Other businesses have been established there, but none have succeeded.

In fact, the building was leased when Guidry looked at it for the first time as a possible location for the church.

He said God told him several times in the recent past that the church was about to move, so he finally started asking God to show him the new building for the church.

"God showed me a building. I drove up and looked at it, then asked around until I found out who owned it and got in touch with the owners, who told me the building was already leased."

The Sunday before Mardi Gras, Guidry received word that the lease had fallen through and the building was available. Negotiations followed, and the church is now in the process of buying the building.

Members of Harvest Time Church's congregation often refer to the move as "crossing the Jordan," comparing it to the account in the Bible of when the

Reflections

On Life

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

Jesus changed it all

Until some 1,960 years ago, people who were poor, suffering, sick or dying had little but the secular philosophy of stoic acceptance, eventual depression and ultimate despair to fall back on.

No one was crazy enough to claim that being poor or in pain could be a condition of positive gain in our lives.

Jesus changed all that when he broke history in half, that before and that after him, proclaiming that, although many things were good up to his birth, he used God's power to make all things surpassingly better and even gave meaning and richness to hardship and pain through his own life, death and resurrection.

Among the things which we dislike most, suffering has to be ranked near the very top. First of all, the experience itself is wrenching and downright undesirable.

Yet, in many cases the painful feeling is not the worst part of suffering. The very indignity, not to mention inconvenience and frustration, of suffering is what embarrasses, humiliates and afflicts us most.

What it all boils down to is that, in human terms, deprivation and suffering don't make a lick of sense.

Humanly speaking, they are nothing but gloomy indications that the hapless victim has been dealt a cruel hand and may even be unfortunate to be alive.

But Jesus changed all that. By taking upon himself the sufferings of us all and turning them into a vehicle of expiation for sin and of purification for the soul, he converted an indignity into the unparalleled dignity of the cross.

The ultimate emblem of shame became the most distinctive badge of his followers:

"Whoever wishes to come after me must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me" (Mk. 8:34).

The underclass, who have the dubious distinction of being classified beneath the level of the poor, have an almighty Spokesman who showed by his own work in his father's carpenter shop that they should work and try to better themselves.

By the same token, he assured them as a homeless itinerant preacher that it is no reflection on honest people if they cannot find work or if their meager wages do not lift them out of squalor.

They are just as endowed with human dignity as anyone else, even if fettered by their ghetto, barrio or home in the streets.

Jesus changed forever our view of the underclass, the poor, the luckless, the feeble-minded, the retarded, the slow, the halt and all those who are no longer productive due to injury, illness or age.

Jesus changed the secular world's jaundiced dismissal of them into the positive, joyful acceptance by the children who follow Jesus in his Father's kingdom.

An apparently clear majority of the haves tend to look down their collective noses at the have-nots, so that the have-nots feel left out, slighted, demeaned and without the wherewithal to hold their heads high and to assert themselves.

But Jesus changed all that, for, while he had all, he forsook the universe and took upon himself the nature of a slave, becoming just like all the have-nots in everything except sin. In siding with the have-nots, Jesus validated the poorest of his brethren.

Secular attitudes and minds shy away from the weak, the helpless, the powerless and the unknown individuals and peoples of the world.

Jesus, of course, changed that so radically that he encouraged—yes, commanded—us to seek out these very people, to monitor their hurts and needs, to identify him with them in every way, and to minister to them as his sisters and brothers.

Morris-Peterson

St. Clare Church in Waveland was the setting for the February 24 marriage of Kay Francis Peterson of Waveland and Roderick William Morris of Bay St. Louis. The Reverend Noel Fannon officiated at the afternoon ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Gracie Peterson of Waveland and the late John Edgar Peterson. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Morris of Bay St. Louis.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Aubrey (Duper) Montgomery.

Organist Jimmy Varnell and soloists Gary Stockstill, Becky Manko, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Moran provided nuptial music.

The bride wore an ivory satin tea-length dress, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline. The fitted basque bodice was accented at the hip with gathers and imported lace. The gown featured an apron of satin below the basque waistline, which was finished with a descending hemline.

The shoulder-length veil fell from a back pouf. The bride carried a cascade of silk magnolias and roses.

Karen Sotak served as matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Cheryl Ladner, Linnie Swilley, Laura Adam and Jennifer Peterson.

Kayla Peterson was flower girl. Trent Morris was ring bearer.

David Stefano was best man, and ushers were John Stiglet and Chad Ladner.

Groomsmen were Jesse Webb, Pat Cuevas, Craig Breland and Aaron Peterson.

A reception followed the ceremony at St. Clare Parish Hall. A rehearsal dinner was given prior to the wedding by the bride and groom at the parish hall.

A bridal shower was given by the bridesmaids February 4 at the Jaycee Hall in Bay St. Louis.

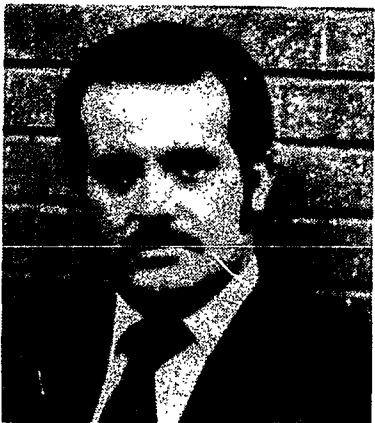

The couple resides in Waveland.

Pastor Bob Guidry Jr.

Israelites crossed the Jordan River into the promised land.

Guidry said, "When I was seeking God about this move, he brought me to the book of Joshua and showed me that our move is a direct parallel to what happened with the children of Israel when they crossed the Jordan River.

"He also told me we're to make this move directly along the lines it's written in the Bible.

Turning to the fourth chapter of Joshua in his Bible, Guidry read several verses. "If you start with verse five, you'll see that God told Joshua to have representatives of each of the twelve tribes of Israel pick up a stone out of the Jordan as they cross, so they can build a monument to the crossing on the other side.

"I've asked each family in our church to bring a stone when we move into the new building so we can build a monument. God told me to carve into the stones Joshua 4:6 and 7, so when someone asks what the stones are for, we can tell them about the miraculous ways God moved to get us here."

Multi-purpose field borders control erosion, enhance landscape

By LINDA MCMAHON
District Conservationist

Field borders are strips of perennial vegetation established along the edge of fields or for the homeowner along fences or property lines.

They consist of herbaceous vegetation or shrubs which are planted or converted from trees.

Field borders serve many purposes; for the farmer to control erosion, protect the edge of fields used as "turn rows" or travel lanes for farm machinery and reduce competition from adjacent woodland. They also provide wildlife food and cover and improve the landscape.

Field borders can be established adjacent to cropland, pastureland, woodland, fences and streams or channels.

Borders should be a minimum of 30 feet wide for farm fields and five to ten feet around a house. They can be native plants or introduced species.

ton of lime or equivalent per acre.

Planting should be on a well-prepared, firm seedbed. Shrubs are planted in rows to approximately the same depth as they were prior to digging.

Field border management should include no clipping the first year of establishment except for weed control. This allows well establishment of plants to provide wildlife food and cover and erosion control. Clipping should then be done as needed for operation of farm equipment and to maintain the desired effect.

Adequate fertilizer should be applied to maintain good ground cover, especially when the area is used by farm equipment.

Shrub lespedeza should be cut back close to the ground every second or third year to provide an acceptable environment for wildlife protection and production.

Some recommended perennial plants for field borders are bahiagrass, common bermudagrass, tall fescue and bicolor lespedeza.

Recommended annual plants include crimson clover, broom top millet, rye, and common Koenig and Korean lespedeza.

If a summer perennial grass is planted in the fall, plant a suitable winter legume or cereal grain, rye, wheat, or oats, for erosion control.

Recommended shrubs for home owners include autumn olive, American beauty berry, elderberries, nandina and pyracantha.

For more information about field borders contact the Soil Conservation Service in Kiln at 255-3225.

Conservation District plans 'Backyard Wildlife Seminar'

Do you enjoy having birds or other wildlife around your home? Many people do. We feel rewarded by the beauty, songs and interesting activities of birds. And birds eat many insects and weed seeds we find irritating and undesirable.

The Hancock County Soil and Water Conservation District will host a Backyard Wildlife Seminar March 22 at the Farm Bureau office in Kiln at 7 p.m. The seminar will provide information on ways to make your property more attractive to wildlife in a way that will also beautify and improve it.

For more information call 255-3225.

To establish a field border of native plants, the area should be protected from grazing, equipment damage and fire, and plant establishment will be voluntarily.

To establish a field border of introduced species, planting recommendations and specifications should be followed.

Site preparation for planted borders should include pulverizing the area to be seeded thoroughly three to four inches deep and harrowed to a smooth seedbed or rows where shrub lespedeza will be planted.

Fertilizer and lime should be applied according to soil test for desired plants. If a soil test is not available, apply the minimum rate for the selected plants and one

Hancock Bank appoints eight new officers

Hancock Bank's board of directors announced the appointment of eight new bank officers on March 8.

Patti B. Cumbest, PhD, was named personnel officer. Having joined the bank in 1986 as a personnel consultant, Cumbest's responsibilities include overseeing the bank's training program, developing a performance appraisal system, analyzing jobs and developing an incentive-pay plan.

Cumbest holds a doctorate in industrial psychology from the University of Southern Mississippi and was previously employed with Morris and McDaniell Inc.

She is a member of the American Psychological Association, Mississippi Academy of Science, International Personnel Management Association and the Society for Industrial and Organizational Psychology.

Patti and her husband Brent reside in Wade and attend Caswell Springs United Methodist Church.

Walter Hatten, manager of the Information Center Group, was appointed information services officer. Hatten joined the bank in 1987 as a systems programmer and is credited with the design and implementation of the bankwide computer system, the Lighthouse System and Info Screen.

A graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi with a bachelor's degree in computer science, Hatten was previously employed with the Bank of Mississippi and First National Bank of Commerce. Walter and his wife Roxie Lynn reside in Gulfport and have one daughter.

Loan Maker Donald Davenport was appointed assistant officer. A graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi with a bachelor's degree in business administration, Davenport joined the bank in 1986 and worked in the Recoveries, Leasing and Installment Loan Departments.

A graduate of the Leadership Mississippi Program, Davenport is a member of the Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce, Gulfport, Long Beach Optimist Club, USM Alumni Association, Sigma Chi Fraternity Alumni and Leadership Mississippi Alumni. Don and his wife Bridgette reside in Gulfport and attend First Baptist Church.

Jackie Dennison was named assistant operations officer. Dennison joined the bank in 1976 and was assigned to Miscellaneous Training.

She was transferred in 1977 to Branch Administration and was named administrative assistant in 1985. Dennison selects and trains tellers, assists all branches with daily activities, including the assignment of relief tellers and prepares reports regarding branch-transaction volumes.

She and her husband George reside in Long Beach.

Judy Galloway was appointed trust officer. Galloway, who joined the bank in 1985, had worked for the bank for a year in the 70s.

In 1988, Galloway transferred to the Trust Department where she is responsible for SEC reporting, preparation of the proxy statement and the Employee Benefit Plans.

A graduate of the University of Mississippi with a bachelor's degree in accounting, Galloway is a member of Chi Omega Alumni Association, Heritage Antique Club and Merry Maskers Carnival Association.

Residents of Gulfport, Judy and her husband Jim have two children and attend First United Methodist Church.

Mary Ann Pucheu was appointed assistant branch officer at Bay 90, having worked in various departments at different branches since 1976. Pucheu was promoted in 1985 to administrative assistant.

She holds an associate's degree in business from Pearl River Community College and is a past member of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and Gulf Coast Credit Women.

A member of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, Pucheu and her husband John have one son.

Loan Maker Marcelle Tims was named assistant branch officer. Tims joined the bank in 1979 as a teller in Poplarville and has since worked as a loan clerk, loan operations supervisor and loan maker.

Having attended Pearl River Community College, Tims is a past director of local chapter BAI and present member of the American Cancer Society and Jaycees. Tims and her husband Philip reside in Poplarville.

Pat Watson was named assistant business development officer. Watson began working at the Pascagoula-Moss Point bank in 1977 where her assignments included teller, head teller and IRA's.

She transferred to the Gulfport Trust Department in 1987 and back to Pascagoula in 1989 where she is responsible for business development and trust services in Jackson County. Watson is pursuing a business degree at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College and is a member of Mississippi Young Bankers, Singing River Art Association, Chamber of Commerce, American Cancer Society, March of Dimes and First Assembly Church of God.

Keith Williams was appointed assistant credit officer. Having joined the bank in 1987, Williams worked on job analysis in the Personnel Department and participated in a brief training program prior to being assigned as credit analyst in the Credit Department.

In late 1989, Williams was promoted to assistant credit manager. A graduate of Delta State University, Williams is presently working toward his MBA at the University of Southern Mississippi-Gulf Park.

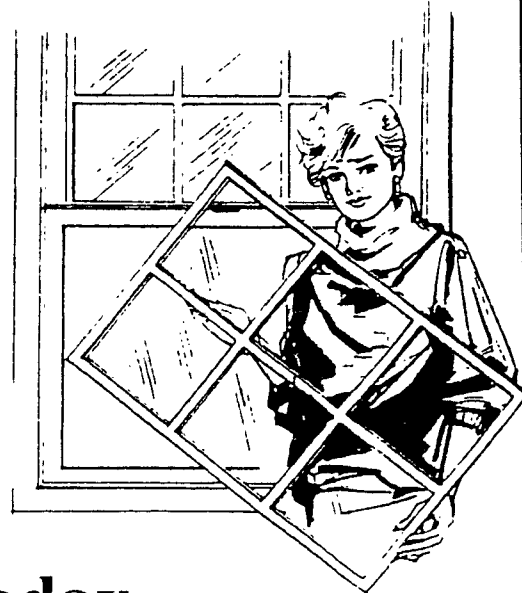

Williams is active in the United Way Campaign, Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce, Gulfport-Long Beach Optimist Club and is a participant in Leadership Mississippi. He and his wife Shelley reside in Gulfport. They have two sons and attend St. Mark Church.

State Archives Dept. offers $30,000 grant

Elbert R. Hilliard, State Historic Preservation officer, has announced that the Department of Archives and History has $30,000 available for historic preservation, including surveys, planning, pre-development, and development projects in Mississippi.

The funds may be used for survey and other planning activities including research, evaluation, and registration of significant historic resources.

"Pre-development" has been defined as activities normally required to execute a development project, such as preparation of architectural plans, specifications, historic structures reports, or engineering studies.

Grant funds may also be used for construction work to actually restore historic properties.

To apply for the 50/50 matching grants, contact Tomas Blackwell, Grants Administrator, Post Office Box 571, Jackson, Mississippi 39205-0571, (601) 359-6953.

The deadline for applying is April 9, 1990. The selection of properties for financial assistance will be determined by the Board of Trustees of the Department of Archives and History and the State Historic Preservation Officer.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, MAY WE HAVE YOUR ATTENTION, PLEASE.

Source: Consumer
Data Service, 1989

The TV may be blasting in the other room, but at this moment you're proving an important point about newspaper advertising.

It requires your willing participation. And your full attention.

That's a claim that radio and television can't make.

And that's what makes newspaper advertising so powerful.

Readers seek out newspapers. In fact, 76.5% of Mississippi's adults regularly read their local, community newspaper.

They want information and entertainment. They'll search page to page until they find it. And when they do, they'll read it.

You're proving our point right now.

When people turn to their paper, they turn there with interest. Which means that's where your advertising message needs to be.

With all the choices available, it's difficult deciding how best to advertise your business.

But everything becomes a little simpler when you remember one rule.

YOU
IN THE PAPER.

Read fine print before using cleaning products

Stop! Look! Listen! All of us are familiar with the railroad crossing signs. Those warnings are good advice. We should alert ourselves to all sorts of dangers and prepare ways to avoid them.

Many of our warnings are in our kitchen cabinets -- or in our pantry or storage room. And they do have warnings printed on the labels. But the labels are in fine print and almost impossible to read. Here are a few examples of dangers we should be aware of:

Pine Oil Cleaner: "Keep out of the reach of children. Keep away from heat. Harmful if swallowed."

"Avoid contact with skin or eyes. In case of contact immediately flush eyes or skin with plenty of water. Persist."

Clear Ammonia: "Caution. Avoid contact with eyes, and prolonged contact with skin may cause burns."

"Avoid inhalation of vapors. Do not mix with chlorine type bleaches or other household chemicals. Keep out of the reach of children."

Brasso Metal Polish: "Danger. Harmful or fatal if swallowed. Combustible, irritating to eyes."

Liquid Plumber: It claims to be safe for the pipes -- but it is not safe for you.

Hear this: "Contains sodium hypochlorite. Harmful if swallowed. Injures eyes and mucous membranes on contact. Splashing releases hazardous gases." Emergency treatment is printed on the bottle ending with, then call physician."

The list could go on and on, however, we owe it to ourselves as well as to others who may unwittingly use these "modern cleaner aids." Before these helps came on the market housekeepers found much safer and cheaper ways to accomplish the tasks.

Some of the ingredients used successfully are: salt, flour, lemons, vinegar, potatoes and hot water. Not listed is the elbow grease which is used with each of these products.

Let's see how some of these work: To clean the drain: use a cup of salt followed by boiling water. Or use a cup of baking soda followed by half a cup of vinegar. For really tough problems use a plunger or a metal "snake."

For cleansing, salt will scour and disinfect sinks. Baking soda is great for cleaning ovens and refrigerators.

For windows, use two tablespoons of white vinegar in one quart of water. For metal cleaner dip a dry cloth in flour.

For a cleaning paste for copper mix equal parts of salt and flour.

Room deodorizer place bowls filled with white vinegar next to the stove.

Vinegar also eliminates cigarette odors. For paint fumes put a chopped onion in a bucket of water and place it in the middle of the room.

There is a little paperback book entitled 'How to Clean Everything' by Alma Chesnut Moore (Simon and Schuster - New York). It is an encyclopedia of what to use and how to use it. Every home owner should have one. It has sensible ways for keeping belongings looking good and working well.

Alma Moore said: "Consult it as you would a cook book. Happily, the best cleaning method is usually the easiest and safest. Just read the directions carefully and follow them exactly."

Stop. Look. Listen, and read the fine print before using any brand-name cleansers. It is time well spent and may avoid panic.

Southern Poetry Association hosts Diamondhead readings

The rhythmic rise and fall of voices in rhymed and unrhymed poetry proclaimed that poetry is still alive and well as the Southern Poetry Association presented a "Celebration of Poetry" to members of the Diamondhead Art Association and guests Monday.

Members of writing groups along the Coast from Pass Christian to Pascagoula attended and took part in the reading of poems by local authors.

Attending from the Gulf

Coast Writers Association were Veda Corley and Patricia Boatner, president of the GMAC Writers United and South Branch of the Mississippi Poetry Society were represented by Vonville Ros, Eunice Barnes and Nina Mason, who was recently declared Poet of the Year by the Mississippi Poetry Society.

Dorothy Booth of the Diamondhead Art Association (DAA) introduced Mildred Klyce, president and editor of the SPA. Mrs. Booth and Charlotte Reshen, co-founders of the DAA, both read poems during the readings. Carl Danna presided as master of ceremonies in the absence of Vermont Smith, who is ill.

Also reading their own poems during the afternoon were Louise Rogers and Suzanne Jacques, assistant editor of SPA. In keeping with one of the Association's aims of encouraging young people in the creation of poetry John Parker, son of Suzanne Jacques read his poem entitled "Cat-alogue!"

The program proved conclusively that poetry, the writing of and the reading of, is still very much alive and becoming even more popular.

Librarians learn cataloging at New Orleans workshop

Three members of the Hancock County Library System recently attended a two-day workshop on cataloging in machine-readable format at the New Orleans Public Library.

Attending from the local library were Prima Wusnack, library director, Cathy Kanady, assistant director, and Myra Haynes, technical processing clerk.

The two-day workshop, offered by SCLINET (Southeastern Library Network Inc. of Atlanta), was for area libraries interested in learning how to do original cataloging of materials in machine-readable format.

The workshop covered books and serials (periodical publications), with one day devoted to each type of material. Unlike the cataloging done in past years in order to produce catalog cards, machine-readable cataloging is done in order to allow the information to be added to the library's computer data base, which is now replacing the traditional card catalog.

"All cataloging of library materials must conform to international standards and rules so the resulting data base of information may be loaded into computers and indexed," said Wusnack.

"The Hancock County Library System is presently in the process of converting its holdings into machine-readable format, and newly cataloged materials are being added to the library's data base as they are received."

"This data base will form the basis of the library's automated library system, which should be operational by the end of 1990," she concluded.

- Never throw anything from your car window.
- Don't toss away any small piece of litter, however small, along a street or sidewalk.
- Hold onto the litter until you reach a container.
- Keep and use a litter container in your automobile.
- Properly containerize your house-hold trash.
- Sweep up around your garbage put-out point.
- If you see someone else littering, confront the person on the spot.
- Report vacant lots and other areas in need of cleaning.
- Organize neighborhood clean-ups.
- Keep animals confined.

BOARD PRESENTATION—Under the direction of Mrs. Charlotte Reshew of Diamondhead, Hancock North Central Elementary students recently performed for the School Board "Helping Parents to Understand How They Feel About School."

Wusnack, Canady, McKay attend automation seminar

The DYNIX Automated Library System was the subject of a training seminar, recently held in Provo, Utah, and attended by three members of the Hancock County Library System.

Those attending the pre-installation training, catalogue training and orientation sessions from the Hancock County Library System were Prima Wusnack, library director; Cathy Kanady, assistant director; and Linda McKay, administrative assistant.

The DYNIX System, now being purchased by the Hancock County Library System, is one of several such automated systems available to libraries today, and is currently the system being used at the main library and all branch libraries of the New Orleans Public Library System.

"When fully operational, the automated online system will enable patrons to locate information in the library with the assistance of computer terminals located throughout the public service area," said Wusnack.

"And the processes of circulation, cataloguing, statistical reporting and acquisitions are among some of the operations which will be included in this fully integrated system that will link the Waveland and Kiln libraries with the headquarters in Bay St. Louis by data communications lines," she said.

Wusnack feels that the new system should be operational in the local library system by the end of 1990.

Byrd scholarships available

For the fourth year, Mississippi high school seniors will be able to participate in a federally-funded scholarship program. The Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarship Program will award scholarships of $1,500 to 60 college-bound high school seniors.

The program, named for the long-time West Virginia legislator, will be administered by the State Department of Education.

Scholarships will be awarded based upon academic achievement and the promise of continued academic success. Financial need will not be a consideration.

Byrd scholarships may be used in conjunction with other scholarships a student receives. Twelve scholarship winners for each of the state's five congressional districts will be selected.

Applications for the scholarships are available through high school principals and/or counselors or the State Department of Education.

The application deadline is April 16, 1990.

THESE SOUTH MISSISSIPPIANS HAVEN'T BEEN AROUND SINCE 1899.

BUT THEIR BANK HAS.

These South Mississippians do their banking at Hancock Bank. And, just like South Mississippians have done for 90 years, they know they can count on Hancock's strength and integrity.

At Hancock Bank every transaction, no matter how large or small, is backed by our reputation for stability and completed by our highly trained staff of professional bankers.

We offer South Mississippians the most up-to-date services provided through an extensive network of banking locations. But it is something else we offer our customers that really sets us apart. We have been committed to South Mississippi for over 90 years, and that commitment will continue for a long, long time.
